Moran to Visit U.S. Troops

Travels to Meet with Kansas Soldiers Serving our Country

WASHINGTON, D.C. - This week Congressman Jerry Moran announced he is taking a break from his tenth annual Big First Listening Tour to visit U.S. troops serving in the War on Terror. Moran is traveling with other Members of Congress to visit Kansas soldiers, meet government officials and view progress in various countries where U.S. troops are currently deployed.

Due to safety concerns and the secure nature of the trip, further information regarding times and locations are not currently available. Moran will resume his Big First Listening Tour upon his return to Kansas.
