WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Jerry Moran announced that Wayne Stoskopf is serving as a congressional intern in his Washington, D.C., office. Stoskopf is a 2006 graduate of Hoisington High School in Hoisington, Kansas.

"Internships provide Kansas students the opportunity to learn about Congress and put in practice the skills and knowledge they have acquired in college," Moran said. "Wayne is doing good work for Kansans and gaining experience that will help him serve others throughout his life."

Stoskopf is a senior at Kansas State University and is majoring in Agribusiness with an International Option. Upon graduation, Stoskopf plans on pursuing a master's in Agricultural Economics.

"I have always been interested in the development of public policy at the national level, so working here in Washington, D.C., has proven to be a valuable experience," said Stoskopf. "I am very grateful for the opportunity to be serving Congressman Moran and the people of Kansas."

In the office, Stoskopf assists Moran with legislative and administrative duties on behalf of the people of Kansas.
