This Week in Congress

December 22, 2006

Dear Friend,

Welcome to "This Week in Congress." As 2006 comes to a close, I would like to thank you for the opportunity to serve you in Congress this year. I will be continuing my annual county tour these next few weeks. I will send the next edition of This Week in Congress on January 8, 2007. I hope you and your family have a safe and enjoyable holiday season.

In the Office

Connie Morris of St. Francis was in with the Kansas State Board of Education to discuss education issues and the federal policies that affect Kansas schools. In my Washington, D.C., office this week for a tour of the United States Capitol building were Toby Nosker of Concordia, Neil Weiland and Steven Kuhlmann of Manhattan, and Paul Tice of Solomon. Bonnie Emlen of Hays also stopped by for a tour with her son and his family, Frank and Jan Warren and their daughter, Hailey, of Maryland.

Very truly yours,

Jerry
